Course Description:

The aim of the course is to provide psychological practices for the students that help them having better self-knowledge, better psychological well-being, social skills and psychological coping skills. Further aim of the course is to help first year students feel more familiar at the university, help them in the process of integration to the social network and organizational culture of the Psychological Institute.

For completing the course, active presence is necessary, no absence is allowed from any of the days. Please avoid being late or leaving earlier the course because it would disturb the activity of the group.

Missing from the course is allowed only for medical reasons. In this case you should send the sick note written by your doctor via email to the teachers on the missed day. The sick note presented on a later date is not accepted.
