Course Description:

This course explores the most significant literary and cultural trends in the 20th and 21st centuries. The assigned theoretical writings will be discussed in the context of literary works and cultural phenomena. The course relies on the BA lecture series titled "The Foundations of Literary Theory" (BAN 3381): it further develops the basic terms used for literary analysis and offers an assessment of theoretical approaches from a broader cultural perspective. Classes will have a workshop format, theories will be applied to literary works and films.
