Course Description: This special course deals with the field of social rights. Students have access to social security issues from the historical aspect of the development of legal, administrative and social rights. Owing to the comparative and international feature of the course, it focuses on the legal regulation of the European countries connected to social security. In this way students will be familiar with social rights from several aspects, and thus understanding their own country's social law practice better. The course also deals with international organizations, mainly with the role of the European Union in the social security field. During the course, students should be able to analyze and solve legal problems arising from the application of national legislation, to discuss methodological issues, to disclose legal discourses on social rights.
