

Title and Code of Course: Atheism: Arguments Against God ERPB-BKO 0005
Instructor's Name: Dr. Legédy Kristóf
Instructor's Email Address: legendy.kristof@gmail.com
Credit Point Value: 6	Number of Lessons per Week: 2	Type of Course: Seminar ☐ Lecture ☒	Method of Evaluation: Written Examination ☐ In-Class Presentation ☒ Other ☐
Course Description: This course explores the philosophical, theological, and cultural arguments against the existence of God. Starting from classical critiques and moving through modern and contemporary perspectives, students will engage with central debates in the philosophy of religion. Topics include the problem of evil, the limits of reason, scientific explanations of the universe, and moral questions in a world without God. The course emphasizes critical reading, open discussion, and cross-cultural perspectives, encouraging students to form and defend their own reasoned positions. A further aim of the course is to provide Christian thinkers with the intellectual tools to respond to atheistic arguments and defend their faith in dialogue.
Bibliography: • The Twilight of Atheism: The Rise and Fall of Disbelief in the Modern World by Alister McGrath • God, Freedom, and Evil Paperback by Alvin Plantinga • The God Delusion Paperback by Richard Dawkins			