

Title and Code of Course: Logics in the Social Sciences
ERP-B-MTVN 9008

Instructor's Name: Prof. Dr. László Pólos

Instructor's Email Address: polos.laszlo@kre.hu

Credit Point Value: 6	Number of Lessons per Week: 2	Type of Course: Seminar ☒ Lecture ☐	Method of Evaluation: Oral Examination ☐ In-Class Presentation ☒ Other ☐
---------------------------------	---	--	--

Course Description:

This Course takes a dual perspective: Discusses logics describing argumentation patterns used by agents on social contexts, such as Business, Politics, Diplomacy and also the argumentation patterns of Social Scientist (e.g. Economist, Sociologists Historians, Ethnographers) in academic reasoning. The course systematically evaluates the benefits and the challenges of these reasoning patterns and offers advice on what kind of reasoning patterns provide the most efficient debates, negotiations, and desired social outcomes

Bibliography:

1. Barwise, I and J. Etchemendy: Language, Proof, and Logic CSLI Publ. 2011
2. F. Veltman: Default in Update Semantics. 1994
3. P. Blackburn, et al.: Modal Logic. 2014
4. Hannan, M.T. et al: Concepts and Categories Foundations for Sociological and Cultural Analysis Columbia U. P. 2019
- 5 Schöll, Galler and Le Mens: How Politicians Learn from Citizen's Feedback AJPS 2023