

Postgraduate Training as a Supervisor Coach

The supervisor-coach training is a specialisation built on top of the supervisor training. Its aim is to provide supervisor professionals with the training they need to acquire the specialised knowledge required for coaching - the aim is to develop supervisors' organisational, management-theoretical and coaching methodological skills, so that they can become professional supervisor-coach professionals who carry out professional leadership, personality development and counselling work.